

Accommodations Bill Gets Past Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee approved today in somewhat limited form the public accommodations bill urged by President Kennedy as part of his civil rights program. The vote was 14 to 3.

The bill to ban racial discrimination by business establishments catering to the public was amended so that its coverage would not extend to neighborhood shops not part of an interstate chain and not primarily serving interstate travelers.

Also exempted would be rooming houses if the proprietor uses the premises for his home and has not more than five rooms for rent.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, Wash., told newsmen the committee also adopted amendments designed to encourage voluntary compliance as much as possible and providing for the right to a jury trial in contempt cases growing out of injunctions obtained against discriminatory practices.

He said that just how far the bill's coverage extends would have to be determined in the end by the courts.

But, over-all, the Senate committee moved in the direction of restricting coverage in contrast to the broader coverage provided in an omnibus civil rights bill recently approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

Magnuson noted that 32 states already have public accommodation laws and said the bill approved by his committee doesn't go as far as many of these laws and no farther than any of them.

He listed the three senators who voted against the bill as Norris Cotton, R-N.H., Thurston Morton, R-Ky., and Strom Thurmond, D-S.C.

Two Injured in SPG Accident

Yesterday, in the D. C. driving ground near the Kelly Ranch an auto driven by James Leslie, of McCaskill crashed into the rear of a County Patrol and two persons were hurt.

Leslie and a passenger were taken to a Nashville hospital for treatment. Extent of their injuries could not be learned. The Patrol driver, Dean Westfall, was not injured.

A State Policeman W. T. Brewster investigated.

C of C Plans Forestry Observance

The Hope Chamber of Commerce has worked out plans to observe national forest products week October 20 to 26 with several special events on tap. President Haskell Jones appointed Bill Gunter as chairman several months ago.

On September 12 Mr. Gunter, Jones, and County Agent Caldwell and benefield attended a kickoff meeting at Camden to learn how to conduct a successful promotion. At a planning meeting a short time later these events were scheduled:

1. A poster contest to be conducted among the elementary students of the county with the theme "Use more wood for the common good". This is already underway and the students are busy preparing them. Each school winner will be displayed in downtown stores. 1st prize $5.00; 2nd prize $3.00; and 3rd prize $2.00.

2. An essay contest among Junior High students with the same theme. Same prizes.

3. A forest products team will visit three civic clubs during the week to tell the story of the value of the forest to Hempstead County. This team will be headed by chairman Gunter, and will have Brock Schenk as a processor Jack Lowe as a retailer, and a yet to be named timber grower.

4. A unique display of timber products will be built by Frank King and T. C. Cranford and placed on the sidewalk at Second and Main. It will be in the shape of a tree and will feature products produced in Hempstead County.

5. There will be a tour of three or four woodworking industries in Hope on Tuesday, October 22. The Forestry Princess Cindy Williams will join the tour at 1:30 p.m. in Downtown Hope. The tour will end the experiment station at 3:30 p.m. After a 30 minute tour of a tree plot Miss Williams will take over the final 30 minutes of the tour with the story of Timber and several songs, all of which she sings very well.

The Chamber of Commerce is entering state competition to win the award for best county observance. A scrap book will be made to cover all the events. Citizens of Hope are urged to go on the tour at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. It will take 3 hours and show how timber is grown and processed in our county and emphasize what it means to our economy.

This is the only way the public will be asked to take part during the observance, so it is hoped that at least 60 persons will take time to show their appreciation for the timber industry by going on the tour. With the Forest Queen leading the way it should be enjoyable as well as informative.

Hard to Tell Age of Men and Women Today There's Such a Conspiracy to Stay Young

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It is hard to tell the age of men and women today.

There is a conspiracy to stay young.

Gray hair is tinted another color, cosmetics give a youthful complexion, diets keep figures trim, and—for those who can afford it—plastic surgeons remove tattle-tale wrinkles.

But now matter how skillfully you camouflage your exterior, you have a secret betrayer within. That is your memory. And it will quickly give away your real age anytime you succumb to the temptation of reminiscing out loud.

Certainly you're no longer a spring chicken if you can remember when —

Farm Land in SPG Is Leased

In a routine session last night Hope Directors opened bids on city-owned farm land in the Prov. Ground and the high bid of $5,000 was submitted by the May Brothers who currently lease the land.

The group agreed to purchase a set of Arkansas Statutes for the Courtroom at a cost of $93.

The City will furnish the work and property owners the material for construction of about 400 feet of sewer line on East Laurel Street.

Namesake Has Great Plans for Development and Future of Perrytown, Arkansas

By WICK TEMPLE

PERRYTOWN, Ark. (AP) — Perry Campbell is a space-age pioneer who fights wilderness with a battery of neon signs and a diesel gas pump.

The 35-year-old bachelor and 99 of his neighbors will file incorporation papers next month for Arkansas' newest municipality — Perrytown — four miles east of Hope.

The town will be two miles long and a mile wide. Down its middle runs heavily traveled U.S. Highway 67, the main artery of the town's economy and the reason for its existence.

Perrytown was a pasture eight years ago when Campbell built a small truck stop beside the highway. Then he added a garage, a restaurant and a motel and wrapped the package in brilliant neon that cost $5,000.

Now the town has a second motel, a cabinet shop, grocery store, gift shop, a clothing and shoe store, two greenhouses and two watermelon stands.

Hempstead County Judge Orie Byers, approved incorporation to Campbell and his neighbors replatted it to leave out Delight Egg Processing Plant which Campbell said did not want to be in the city.

The main reason for incorporation was to get back for improvements some of the $3,500 in state income taxes and $125,000 state gasoline tax the area paid last year.

The state terms back to incorporated towns part of the money paid in taxes.

"With that money we're going to buy things for community use," Campbell said. "We're planning a community center and a park for the kids."

Perrytown already has a woman's club which is planning to decorate Highway 67 with flowers and shrubs. "We're going to get a Salvation Army Post because a lot of travelers get stranded out here," Campbell said. "And we're going to get a Western Union and a post office and a used fire truck."

to set up a volunteer fire department."

Campbell has boundless enthusiasm for the project. "It's like one of our older women said the other day," he said in an interview with the Associated Press. "We're just like pioneers. We're part of the basic American heritage."

Campbell and Earl Martin, who owns the clothing and shoe store, planned to sign a bank loan for $1,500 to meet incorporation expenses, but virtually every other adult resident of the town insisted on co-signing the note.

It was at a town meeting (perfect attendance) that the Perrys decided on the name for their city. "I didn't go for that name," Campbell said. "But they outvoted me."

The first big project is to build a Baptist Church, Campbell said. There are plans for homesites and even a shopping center—later.

"We know Rome wasn't built overnight," Campbell said.

Campbell's neon is dazzling when the motorist comes upon it in the Arkansas night. His electric bill runs $500 a month. "You've got to get them to stop," he said. "Most of our income comes from outsiders driving down the highway. We're not like most towns because we won't just be swapping money around."

Campbell's mother, Mrs. Hattie Campbell, lived in the area all her life. "One of her greatest dreams was to see this place made into a town," Campbell said.

Mrs. Campbell died last month, only a few days before Judge Byers approved incorporation of Perrytown.

Murrow Has Left Lung Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hospital authorities reported today the tumor which required removal of the left lung of Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency, was malignant.

Murrow underwent surgery at Washington Hospital Center Saturday for removal of the tumor. The growth was found to be so located that removal of the entire lung was required.

A laboratory check on the tumor tissue was ordered.

"Mr. Murrow is making a very satisfactory recovery," the hospital said.

Cuba Is Battered by Hurricane for 5th Straight Day

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora still hovered over southeast Cuba today, its relentless rains and buffeting winds lashing the island for the fifth consecutive day.

The Weather Bureau in Miami said no storm in 75 years had battered one area for so long. Flora's winds were dropping, but there was no indication when its drenching torrents would dissipate or move on.

As the storm plunged Cuba's Communist regime into the worst economic disaster of its nearly five years in power, neighboring Haiti reported Flora had killed 2,000 to 4,000 persons and made 100,000 homeless last week.

The Cuban government reported 11 dead, Two Americans drowned at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. Jamaica reported nine dead, and 17 were killed on the island of Tobago by Flora last week.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was reported roving his stormbattered Eastern provinces to assess the damage. Agriculture officials in Havana said half the island's crops were laid waste by Flora's winds and rain. The government put the death toll at 11.

It said also Havana's million residents would go on half rations of beef, eat half as many vegetables, and drink no coffee pending arrival of 5,000 tons of coffee beans from Brazil under an agreement with the Soviet Union.

Band Makes Annual Fund Drive Plans

Members of the Hope Band Auxiliary last night set up its annual magazine sales drive and heard a financial report from Mrs. Harold Brents, treasurer. Mrs. Haskell Jones, president, presided.

Mrs. Brents presented an itemized account of earnings from the Livestock Show booth and the concession stand which the group operates during ball games.

Director Jon Barbarotto explained the magazine drive which will be carried out October 16-30. Students offer through a special arrangement with Educational Reader Service, Inc. subscription to any popular magazine at current prices with guaranteed service.

The Band commission from this drive goes for music, instruments, uniforms and expenses on various trips during the school year. Students offer new subscription or can renew your old one. And they can extend your present subscription. Public support for this worthy cause is asked by the Auxiliary and band members.

Cotton Crop Estimate Increased

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's national cotton crop at 14,847,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight and Arkansas' crop at 1,435,000 bales.

The national estimate was an increase of four per cent over the Sept. 1 estimate. The Arkansas estimate represented an increase of 75,000 bales over the Sept. 1 figure.

The national production last year was 14,867,000 bales. The average for 1957-61 was 13,125,000 bales. Arkansas produced 1,450,000 bales last year.

This year's crop, like all since 1953, was grown under federal acreage allotments and marketing quotas designed to limit overproduction. Allotments were down nearly 10 per cent from last year.

The department estimated the yield of lint cotton at 500 pounds per acre compared with 482 indicated a month ago, 457 last year.

Arkansas' yield per acre, was estimated today at 562 pounds compared with an estimate of 533 pounds last month and 512 pounds last year.

Arkansas had ginned 575,507 running bales through Oct. 1, compared with 473,428 bales at the same time last year.

Record Poll Tax Sales Indicated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Early reports indicate that Arkansas will qualify a record 650,000 voters this year.

State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones said today that 14 of the 75 counties have reported so far on poll tax payments and all 14 showed an increase over the previous record year of 1960.

The 14 counties showed 95,641 poll taxes paid compared to 88,286 in the same 14 counties three years ago.

This is an increase of 7,355 or about nine per cent.

Applying that percentage to the record poll tax payment of 603,795 in 1960, the 1963 total should reach 650,000.

Jones spent the last few days before the poll tax deadline at midnight, Oct. 1, shuffling poll tax receipt books among counties in an effort to take care of a flood of applications.

The current poll tax qualifies the voter for elections through Oct. 1, 1964. This includes next summer's primary elections but not the 1964 general election.

Counties reporting poll tax payments, with the 1960 figure in parentheses, included:

Arkansas 6,587 (5,109), Calhoun 3,127 (2,641), Columbia 8,414 (7,771), Greene 9,026 (7,936), Johnson 5,455 (5,002), Logan 6,563 (6,311), Perry 2,742 (2,152), Phillips 10,344 (9,629), Little River 4,077 (3,864), Marion 3,129 (2,864), Poinsett 9,242 (8,626), Carroll 4,826 (4,862), Mississippi 15,500 (14,437), Nevada 4,407 (4,088).

Trial Is Set for Accused Kidnaper

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge William Kirby set Dec. 13 Monday as dates for the trial of Richard Tyler Lane, 31, charged in the April 22, 1963, kidnapping of William Bonds, 56, night admissions clerk at Arkansas Baptist Hospital in Little Rock.

Lane, arrested by FBI agents in Sacramento, Calif. on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, was extradited to Arkansas on the kidnapping charges.

Kidnapers attempted to extort from Bonds the hospital room number of James Dean Walker, 22, who was charged in the fatal shooting of a North Little Rock police officer in a gun battle near North Little Rock.

Also charged in the kidnapping of Bonds were Lane's wife, Cecile Mae, and James Burton Ing. Mrs. Lane was arrested in Nevada but the state would not grant extradition. Ing was sentenced to prison in Nevada on a burglary conviction before an extradition hearing was held.

Mobster to Return to Stand Today

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Using elaborate, detailed charts, a New York police officer and Joseph Valachi, ganglands gravel-voiced songbird, spelled out who's who in the New York underworld today at a Senate hearing held under an anonymous threat of bombing.

Because of telephoned tips the place would be bombed, and that Valachi would be shot, the guarding force of U.S. marshals and security officers was beefed up for this session of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Valachi told the senators the heads of the five New York "families" of gangs in Cosa Nostra, the secret crime organization, are Vito Genovese, Carlo Gambino, Gaetano Lucchese, Giuseppe Magliocco and Joseph Bonanno. He has described Genovese as still "boss of bosses" even though in federal prison on a narcotics charge.

Detective Chief Inspector John F. Shanley of the New York police took over to explain the charts, and said his information on the gangland hierarchy is in accord with Valachi's testimony.

The Genovese "family" listed 142 members, and Shanley told police records show an average of seven arrests for each man; that one out of every four has been arrested for murder in the first degree, and one out of two on narcotics, gambling and assault charges.

Shanley said the two principal sources of income for Cosa Nostra at this time are gambling and shylocking.

Valachi told of his 14 years in the shylocking business in New York and bragged, "I was known as the best shylock around."

He said he would make small loans, not more than $2,000 or so at the most, and charge 20 per cent interest.

He said he loaned money to saloon keepers, bookmakers, "every type—even lawyers."

In gambling operations, Valachi said, "baseball was the biggest." He added, "I can't even rate the action... Some people would bet $25,000 on one game."

Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane said the FBI had received several telephone tips here and in New York that a bomb would be planted and also that several spectators in the audience would try to shoot Valachi if they got a chance.

McShane said the marble-columned Senate caucus room, scene of the hearings, was searched this morning and no bomb was found.

The guard of U.S. marshals that flanks Valachi as he walks down the hall and then sits behind him in the hearing room, was strengthened, McShane said. The added protection was "partly because of the tips and partly because we just don't want anything to happen," McShane said.

The underworld reportedly has placed a price of $100,000 on Valachi's head.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said he had been informed of the general nature of the bombing and shooting tips but had no details. He said he planned to proceed as usual with the hearings. Valachi seemed tense as he was hustled into the hearing room by a big squad of marshals and seated at the witness table.

As McClellan banged the gavel to get the hearings underway, 12 minutes late, uniformed Capitol police stood facing the crowd of spectators, on the ready for anything unusual.

Returning to the limelight after a recess of the Senate investigations subcommittee hearings on organized crime, Valachi is scheduled to spell out the details of "at least two murders" and explore some of the gambling rackets, particularly the "numbers game."

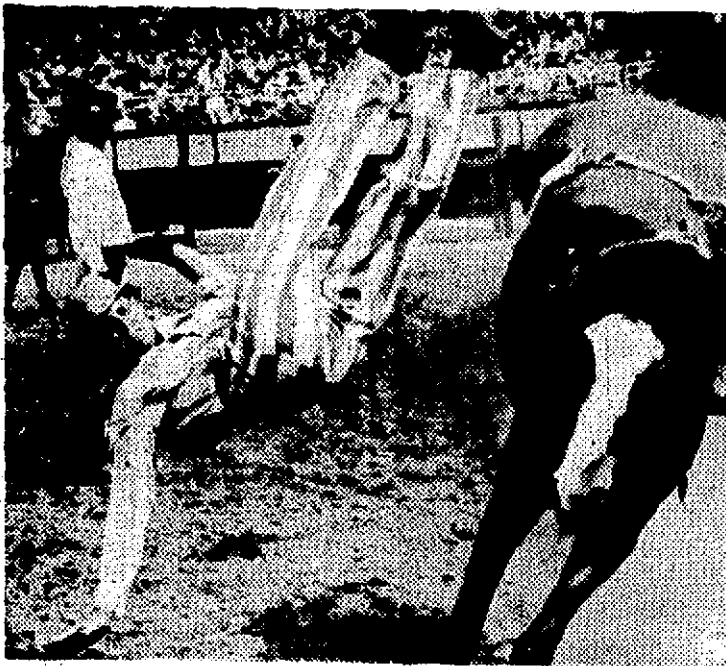

Subcommittee counsel Jerome S. Adlerman said charts purporting to list kinsmen of the New York area mob and hundreds of their underlings would be placed in evidence.

This blue book of La Cosa Nostra families, Adlerman said, would be the pivot for testimony in which Valachi and others will disclose "who runs the rackets and what the rackets are as of the present time."

WOLF TRAILS NIGHT BUS

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My wife and I have been blissfully married since 1945. Our love is as enduring as it was 18 years ago. Born of it are four wonderful children. Now for the problem.

My wife's mother suffers from heart trouble. This makes it necessary for my wife to spend weekends at the family home 12 miles from here. I think the world of my in-laws and wouldn't have it otherwise.

Since we don't own a car, my wife makes the trip by bus. A farmer friend of my father-in-law's is growing increasingly insistent upon driving her home. He even trailed the bus one night begging her to join him. This, to say the least, is asking for trouble since he's been married 20 years and has two children.

My wife personifies the word faithful and I can say the same of myself—in the presence of God. But I am still at a loss as to how to handle this man. Could you lighten my heart with some advice on what to do and say? — Troubled at Heart

Dear Troubled: Yours is "Trouble in Paradise." How to keep your father-in-law's friend down on the farm instead of trailing the Sunday night bus is a relatively simple problem so long as your wife is equally insistent upon riding the bus. All she needs to do is say, "No thank you," and be on her way.

I suspect that you are not 100 per cent sure of her. Paradoxical enough, that's a good sign insofar as the romance of your marriage is concerned. What could be more boring than being sure of something? A dash of doubt is a healthy characteristic of any marriage and your wife probably knows this. It's like spice in the stew.

If you are seriously concerned about this wolf on the road, why not accompany your wife weekends, or perhaps invite her mother and father to visit you? What happens to the four children in her absence? Are they still young enough to need parental supervision? If so, why must you always be the one to provide it?

I feel your wife is putting her parents before you and that isn't right. After all, if you work, as you must to support a family of six, weekends are your only free time. Since communication is evidently easy between you and your wife, talk to her about this.

But keep in mind that trust is a large part of love and, if you love her, there is really no need to be troubled about her Sunday night rides home. Give her a copy of my leaflet, "The Ideal Wife." A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: I have been going steady with a boy whom my parents like. Neighbors, seeing us walk together, say we make a nice looking pair. Now, all of a sudden Mom has changed her mind. "Don't waste your time on him," she said. Why? I am 15, he 17. I don't want to give him up. I hear love lies in giving up something you really love very much, is that true? —Flustered

Dear Flustered: If the romantic notion that "love lies in giving up something you really love very much," consoles you, by all means resort to it when you sensibly decide that 15 is too young to be going steady. No matter how good-looking your boy friend is, no matter how sterling a character he has, you are too young to focus your attention on him exclusively.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Miami said late Monday night that Flora's peak winds had subsided to 75 m.p.h. — minimum strength for a hurricane. It predicted Flora would remain stationary or drift a bit north today. Flora was then still lurking on southeastern Cuba's Caribbean coast where its peak winds had been 80 m.p.h. A movement over land ordinarily would weaken her peak winds further.

The Castro government said 50,000 persons had been removed from their eastern Cuba homes to safer places, mostly because of rivers rampaging out of their banks under torrents of rain.

A Miami committee of relatives of Cuba's political prisoners asked President Kennedy to aid the captives and other Cubans in the hurricane situation.

Cuban exile action groups in Miami urged renewal now of efforts to topple the Castro regime. They said Hurricane Flora had wrought more havoc in four days than anti-Castro groups have been able to do in more than 3½ years.

El Dorado TV Station Is Sold

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Television Station KTVE in El Dorado has been sold to Fuqua Industries Inc., of Augusta, Ga., for $1.5 million, it was announced today.

The sale is subject to approval of the Federal Communications Commission and actual transfer of ownership is not expected to take place until early 1964.

KTVE is owned by the Veterans Broadcasting Co. of Rochester, N.Y. Fuqua Industries is owned by J. B. Fuqua of Augusta, a Georgia state senator and chairman of the Georgia Democratic Committee.

Fuqua Industries operates television station WJFF at Augusta and radio station WRDZ in Evansville, Ind., and a group of bakeries in Georgia and South Carolina.

William F. de Tournillon is general manager of KTVE and John Long is operations manager and chief engineer. Fuqua said no change in personnel is contemplated when he assumes ownership. KTVE is affiliated with the American Broadcasting Co. and the National Broadcasting Co.

Fuqua said studio facilities will be established in Monroe, La., in addition to the El Dorado studios to provide more service to the area by KTVE.

Veterans Broadcasting President Ervin F. Lyke of Rochester said his company was selling KTVE to devote its full efforts to its radio and television properties in Rochester and Syracuse, N.Y.

Fuqua said the northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas area "has a great economic future."

"The people of this area are so similar to my section of the South that I can make a good business citizen and provide the type of television service desired by the area served by KTVE," Fuqua said.

Sinatra to Sell Nevada Interests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singer Frank Sinatra, who surrendered $3.5 million in Nevada gaming interests, says he's going to concentrate on the entertainment field from now on.

But he wished the gambling industry good luck in parting. Casinos, he said, make jobs for entertainers and he's all for them.

Sinatra announced Monday he would not fight an attempt by the Nevada Gaming Commission to revoke his license. He said he'd been planning to pull out for several months.

The commission had been seeking to revoke Sinatra's license on grounds he entertained underworld figure Sam Giancana at Sinatra's Cal-Neva lodge in Lake Tahoe.

Sinatra's attorney, Harry Claiborne, asked the Gaming Commission in a letter Monday to terminate the singer's license adding he was withdrawing from the gaming industry.

The singer's withdrawal was expected to end further action by the commission, although technically it still could proceed.

The Gaming Control Board had asked the State Gaming Commission, its parent organization, to revoke Sinatra's gaming license at Cal-Neva and to force him to give up his 9 per cent interest in the Sands hotel in Las Vegas.

Sinatra's interest in Cal-Neva was estimated at $3 million, his Sands hotel holdings at about $380,000.

Restriction Bill to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

House of Representatives approved and sent to President Kennedy Monday a bill which would remove a use restriction on land at Camp Robinson near North Little Rock now being used by the Arkansas Education Board.

The 9.8 acres involved was turned over to Arkansas when it was declared surplus following

World War II. It was restricted to use primarily as a National Guard training site.

In 1959, the Board of Education entered into a lease-purchase agreement with the Arkansas National Guard for the land which it uses in its program of allocating surplus property.

Removal of the use restriction will allow the board to continue its program. The state is to pay a fair market price for the property.

Non-Farm Employment Hits Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A gain of 6,800 non-farm workers in Arkansas and Oklahoma led to a new non-farm employment record in August for the four-state South-west Region for the second consecutive month, the Labor Department said Monday.

Arkansas gained 5,200 workers and Oklahoma gained 1,600 workers to offset losses of 500 non-farm workers in Louisiana and 700 in Texas.

All four states shared an increase of 85,900 workers since August 1962, with Texas getting the largest chunk, 64,600. Arkansas gained 8,300 during the year, Oklahoma 1,800 and Louisiana 9,200.

The Labor Department said non-farm workers in all four states increased by 5,600 more than in July to a total of 4,541,100.

In Arkansas, manufacturing plants added 2,000 workers in July and August.

The average weekly salaries of Arkansas factory production workers remained below averages of the other three states, the department said. Arkansas workers averaged $70.38 a week while Louisiana workers got $102, Oklahoma workers $93.34 and Texas workers $97.11.

Average hourly wages in Arkansas were $1.70 while in Texas they were $2.34, in Louisiana they were $2.40 and Oklahoma, 2.26.

Dismissal of Complaint Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. asked the Arkansas Public Service Commission Monday to dismiss a complaint by Monroe County residents that the company had neglected to provide service in rural areas of the county.

County residents complained last month that the company had been lagging in providing service.

Southwestern Bell said that it had polled county residents prior to the complaints and offered to provide services at established rates, but the offer was refused.

The company said it can provide service now from its Brinkley and Moro exchanges but said six of the persons who signed the complaint were in an area served by United Utilities Co. of Holly Grove and could not be served by Southwestern Bell.

To the men, bless you, who say that you always (or at least sometimes) read the beginning of this column and then skip the commercial... you might just as well read on for this once. Because we have missed a few chances lately to talk SHOP, we aren't going to do anything else... besides you men will want to know what your favorite girls are wearing.

There are no two ways about it... the relaxed look is it. You may scream about a revival of the old "sack" and say how you fought it once and are not about to accept it again. But you will like the way SHE looks in the casual, lady-like silhouette of the sporty day clothes.

She may or may not wear a belt, but there is no doubt about the shape of things underneath. That is why a good foundation garment is so important. Choose your long-leg pantie or girdle first, then build from there. We suggest a Marja in Lycra, at only $10.95 and $12.50. Once you try one on, you will NEVER be caught without it. They are available in white, shell pink & candlelight, with matching bras.

Then we suggest the mohair jumper dress with your favorite blouse. This dress can be worn all day; remove the blouse, add a jeweled pin and you have a cocktail frock. Jo Junior makes a very smart one for $22.95, the blouse is dacron crepe and can be worn with other things.

We invite you to come by and see our large selection of Minx Modes dresses. They have a style just for you in all the new fabrics, one of which is shown in our ad today.

Suits & sportswear are just asking to be worn. See our selection today; you will have only one problem, and that is making the choice. It is past Fall shopping time; we hope to see you today, and of course the place is... Rayley's Style Shoppe, 523 West 3rd St.

Council of Garden Clubs Meet

The Hope Council of Garden Clubs met Wednesday, October 2 in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Buddy Porter. A suggestion was made that council members visit the various local clubs at their regular meetings.

Reports were given by Committee Chairman, Mrs. Charles Stone gave a report on the district meeting and made suggestion a concerning a money making project.

A motion was carried to investigate the possibilities of selling bird houses and feeders as a project. It was decided that the spring flower show will be a placement show.

Mrs. Les Helms, Jr. reported on City Beautification. It was suggested that vacant buildings on 3rd St. be requested to mow down the tall grass.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Golden Age Club Meets

The Golden Age Club met October 3 at the Youth Center with 20 members present. Mr. J. J. Honey cutt presided over the business meeting followed by a social hour. Three new members were welcomed to the club, Mrs. Garner, Mrs. McCorkle, and Mr. Gleghorn. Mr. Whittey and Mr. Cox gave sort talks and Mr. Honeycutt talked on the trip to El Dorado.

Cookies and coffee and cold drinks were served during the games, and Mrs. Genie won the door prize.

The next meeting will be October 17.

Mrs. Prescott Honored

Mrs. John Denton Prescott of McCaskill was honored with a pink-and-blue shower on Saturday night, September 28th, in the home of Mrs. Herman Rhodes. Mrs. Dudley Woolfolk served as co-hostess.

The living-room was decorated with lovely arrangements of roses and dahlias. The dining-room table was covered with pink net over a pink table cloth and was centered with a pink umbrella adorned with little pink bows, under which the many gifts were displayed. The hostesses presented the honoree with a corsage of small yellow roses.

After the gifts were opened, refreshments of punch and pink cake squares were served. Approximately 15 guests were present, including Mrs. Mac Burkhardt and daughter, Judy, who are the mother and sister of the honoree, and Mrs. Mattie Ball and Mrs. Hallie Calvert, all of Nashville, Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Grachek Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grachek entertained with a ranch style barbecue dinner Sunday, October 6th, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Owens of London, England. The Owens are the parents of Mrs. Ted Grachek, daughter-in-law of Frank and Jo Grachek. Guests came dressed in western garb and western swing music added to the occasion as everyone enjoyed beef, beans, and lots of other good western style foods.

Attending from Hope were Mr. and Mrs. Ben McRae, Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" Brannon, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Jones, Lance and Tuffy, George Peck and Mary Ann Avery. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stroud attended from Washington and Ozan visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steteh, Mr. Harry McKillip and daughters Kathy and Petty, and Mr. Howard Smith. McCaskill was well represented with the Edwin Kellys, the Olin Harriss, the Gordon Prescotts, The Sander Moses, and the Elmer Waggoners. Mr. and Mrs. Owen flew from London to Dallas on the same commercial plane in just over 9 hours. They will be in this area for a few days before returning to Dallas.

Rose Garden Club Meets

The Rose Garden Club met on Friday, October 4 in the home of Miss Mary K. Lehman with Mrs. J. O. Luck, co-hostess. As they arrived, the 21 were served cake, candy, coffee and cold drinks.

Those present included one new member, Mrs. Ned Purdie, and four guests, Mrs. W. R. Herndon, Mrs. H. J. Payne, Mrs. Buddy Porter, Council President, and Mrs. Manuel Hamm, guest speaker. Mrs. Hamm brought a most interesting program on "Dried Arrangements" and illustrated her talk by making four arrangements.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Charles Stone was the presiding officer. Mrs. W. C. Bramlett opened with prayer. A report was heard from the Garden Club Council.

Figures 17 of 32 Shows Are Hits

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty one of the television season's 32 new programs have been launched.

One, a quiz show called "100 Grand," sank almost immediately. A number of others are frail vehicles indeed and their chances for survival appear dubious.

This is the critical period when viewers make dailing decisions which direct their television interests for the entire season.

Based on one show—or at the most, two—my scorecard of hits, misses and "maybes" is almost evenly split, with 17 hits and maybes and 14 misses.

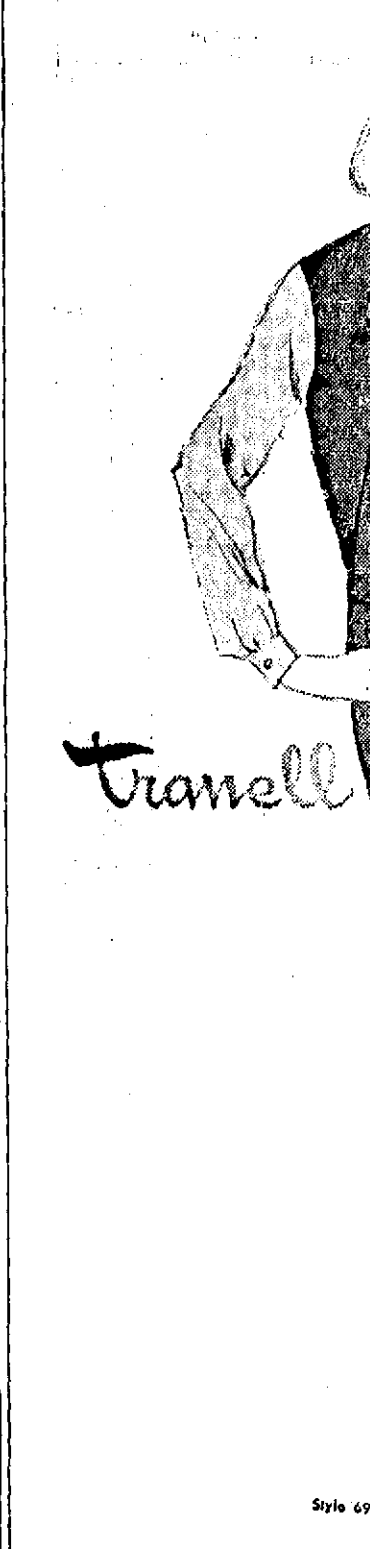

Probable hits are CBS' Danny

Kaye and Judy Garland variety hours and its "Petticoat Junction" situation comedy series. ABC's "Arrest and Trial," "The Fugitive" and "Greatest Show on Earth" are fast-paced adventure tales and "The Farmer's Daughter" an amusing comedy. NBC's "Mr. Novak" looks pretty good after two programs, and its "Hollywood and the Stars" ought to interest anyone who likes movies.

"Maybes" include four anthology series, on the theory that each unrelated program will be as good—or as bad—as its writers. They are NBC's "Richard Boone Show," "Bob Hope Theatre" and "Espionage," and CBS' "Great Adventure." ABC's "Burke's Law" may prove amusing. CBS' "My Favorite Martian" was on my list until I saw the second episode, which moved it to the maybes. CBS' Phil Silvers is a funny man and may triumph over the scripts.

The misses include three new message shows—CBS' "East Side, West Side," and ABC's "Channing" and "Breaking Point." All seem pretentious and dreadfully intent on developing points of view.

Dorothy City, Kan., will arrive Wednesday to visit her mother, Mrs. Frank Hutchens, the Coy Breeding family, and friends.

NBC's "Grindl" has Imogene Coca, but that's about all, and NBC's "Bill, Dean Show" promises to develop into a one-joke comedy series. CBS' "Duke" is a boring, imitative farce. NBC's "Harry's Girls" needs some new writers—and some girls who can act. Neither ABC's Jerry Lewis nor Jimmy Dean seem to have found ways to fill their time spots—but at least Dean isn't offensive.

NBC's "Temple Houston" is a Grade C Western and "The Lieutenant" is military cake with a sugary icing. "The Outer Limits" on ABC is for kids who like horror movies, and the "Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" for those too young to enjoy "Wagon Train." NBC's "Telephone Hour," on a

Adventurers Lost in Wilds of Mexico

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP)—The United States government moved in helicopters and a para-rescue team today in the mounting search for a group of daring American adventurers in desolate northwest Mexico.

After a small airplane flew through the needle thin gorge, its craggy walls blotched with shadows, help was called for from the U.S. Air Force and Army.

The river expedition of 12 men and two women hasn't been heard from or seen in more than a week during their quest to conquer the uncharted Rio Urique. The 15th member is hospitalized there after he had been sent for additional supplies.

The exploration - adventure group set out 13 days ago in four 15-foot rubber boats to travel the thin canyon which stretches along the winding, twisting Barranca Cobre (Copper Gulch). They had with them only enough food for a few days. They planned to pick up provisions from mining camps at intervals along the river.

The explorers include veteran Utah River runners, two California business executives on a "vacationing camping trip" and a zoology professor.

The search area is about 300 air miles from this Mexican state capital.

One of the adventurers, James D. Dean, 31, of Salt Lake City, Utah, reached here Friday after an exhausting 15-mile hike across rough terrain. He had to swim another seven miles.

Dean and Larry Davis of Price, Utah, were sent by the expedition for more food.

The explorers found the river's water level so low that their supplies began to dwindle. It was taking them several days longer to float down the river than anticipated because of its low level.

They felt Dean and Davis would be able to travel faster by finding easier terrain away from the treacherous river. The two sought a mining camp where a food pickup had been scheduled.

From his hospital bed, Dean Sunday expressed confidence that his mates are safe.

He said when he and Davis left the group Sept. 29, "everything was fine. There were no injuries. Their spirits were high and morale wonderful."

Vice consul Bob Homme said he was "not in a position to be an alarmist or overly optimistic" about the explorers. Davis left with a Mexican guide and two Indians to make his way back to the main body. It was not known today if he had successfully contacted the main party.

"We all think they are alive," said Homme early today. "It's just a matter of pinning down their location. I believe they are on their way out."

He estimated it might take the group a week or more to cover the distance because of the rough going.

Homme, who flew in one of two private search planes Sunday, said the water in the river had been reduced to puddles. He said the two pilots confirmed they saw what they thought were three beached boats, similar to those in use by the explorers.

He said shadows deep in the bowels of the gorge created a problem for the planes diving in and out one at a time trying to spot the expedition. He said low flying helicopters probably would have more luck in spotting any human being.

Man Held in Bank Robbery

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—S. E. Powell, 30, was arrested early today by Tulsa police in connection with a Eudora, Ark., robbery in which handbags reportedly got $8,000 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $6,000 last Sunday.

Officers captured Powell as he went to his car near a small downtown hotel. They had been alerted to watch for him by Sheriff John H. Biggs of Lake Village, Ark.

Police here said two other men are sought in connection with the holdup Sunday of a motel and restaurant at Eudora, Ark.

Powell had $518 on him when he was arrested.

He refused to waive extradition to Arkansas. Police listed no home town for him.

Joe Van Storey, owner of the cafe, said the robbers took his diamond ring valued at $6,000 and $8,000 he had in cash after tying him and a guest.

Doctor Sends Contact Lenses to Needy Folks

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—For four years Dr. Robert J. Morrison has had a secret.

"I never told a soul," he said the other day.

What is this dark mystery that a respectable, happily married, 38-year-old Harrisburg, Pa., optometrist wouldn't talk about?

"I've been sending contact lenses to needy people around the world who are suffering from diseases that can be helped by them. I have sent in the hundreds. I thought it would have greater personal meaning if I never told anyone, but now I feel it could be a lot bigger if other doctors helped."

He added quickly: "I'm not asking for money. I have the technicians who can make the lenses. It's just that many doctors travel abroad and could take fittings for me. I'd send the lenses free."

Morrison, who says, "I'm not really interested in contact lenses for the cosmetic effect," wants to establish a real doctor-to-people program to be called CITE—Conservation and Improvement of the Eye.

A small, dark-haired man with warm brown eyes, Morrison bared his secret before leaving on a two-month, 19-country trip to give lectures, hold clinic sessions and fit needy patients. He was accompanied by Dr. Seymour S. Sweet of Tulsa, Okla., also a contact lens specialist and a former student of Morrison's.

He first got the idea for the project, he said, on a trip four years ago.

He had been invited to lecture around the world after gaining international recognition for research on the use of contact lenses in controlling myopia—nearsightedness—in children, and in correcting keratoconus, an eye disease that occurs in underdeveloped areas, and ap-akia, a condition that affects cataract patients.

On this trip he will visit Russia, the Far East and will lecture and hold a clinic in Bulgaria.

Presidential Visit Might Bring Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's visit to Arkansas last Thursday may result in at least three "bonuses" to the state, members of the presidential party have reported.

The "bonuses" included assurance that work on the Arkansas will continue until the end of the year, that the whole Arkansas water program will get sympathetic consideration for next year's budget and an interest by President Kennedy in a "water garden" at Greer's Ferry Dam.

Lt. Gen. W. K. Wilson, chief of Army Engineers, told the Arkansas congressional delegation that engineers would keep work on the project going until at least Jan. 1. Engineers had set Dec. 1 as the date to stop work on the project unless Congress appropriated funds with which to continue the work.

A House move to authorize additional funds for the project and other river basin work was blocked last week. Another move

BOBO ISN'T OVERWEIGHT BUT TIPPED the scales at 1,740 pounds. At left is Leroy Adams and right is Alfred Haddix, employees at Dean's Truck Stop. They are due in Hope between 3 and 4 p.m.

Rockefeller Plans an Endowment

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller has withdrawn his offer to donate one dollar for every $2 Arkansasans donated for an Arkansas exhibit at the 1964-1965 World's Fair in New York.

Calling the exhibit fund-raising project a flop, Rockefeller said Saturday he would contribute the $100,000 set aside for the exhibit for a permanent endowment to the Arkansas Opportunity Fund.

Rockefeller called Gov. Orval E. Faubus' backing of the exhibit less than exuberant. Faubus said there seemed to be little indication that Arkansasans wanted a project at the fair.

Industry Recognition by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Industry Recognition Days begin in Arkansas today, with a variety of celebrations scheduled in honor of the state's industries.

The original bill appropriating funds for river projects has been held up by a deadlock between the Senate and House.

Both Kennedy and Wilson are reported sympathetic to concern by the Arkansas delegation over reports that funds for all Arkansas water development programs are in for big cuts in the budget to be presented by the President in January.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., proposed the water garden be set up in the form of huge fountains below Greer's Ferry Dam. Fulbright said water passing through the dam is moving with such great force that it can be shot 150 feet into the air.

Wilson said engineers have never attempted anything similar to the proposal and would need guidance as well as cost estimates for it.

Kennedy indicated interest in the project but did not commit himself, Fulbright said.

Peggy Lloyd

Magnolia—Peggy Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Lloyd of Rt. 4 Hope has received a $250 Honor Scholarship to Southern State College for 1963-64, according to Milton B. Talley, dean of students.

Miss Lloyd is a junior English major at Southern State preparing for a teaching career. She is an officer of the Pre-Medical Science Club and Sigma Tau Delta and has served on the student newspaper and yearbook staffs.

The scholarship to Miss Lloyd was made possible by a contribution from Dr. and Mrs. Joe F. Rushton of Magnolia to the Southern State College Honor Scholarship Fund.

Former Con Man Thanks the Prison

By EDDY GILMORE

Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—Britain's one-time king of confidence men delivered flowers and a letter of thanks today to the prison that helped him go straight.

"They really looked after me in Wandsworth jail," said Stanley Rowe, "and I wanted to show my appreciation."

"Their understanding put me on the road to my longest spell of freedom."

Lowe, 41, told reporters he had just completed his first two years of freedom since he was 14.

Lowe returned to the prison in a tailored suit, bowler hat, hand-made shoes, a $25 shirt and a silver-headed walking stick.

He rode in a chauffeur-driven hired car. In his arms was a bouquet and a letter to the prison head which said:

"I leave these flowers for you and your staff of the rehabilitation wing in appreciation of the help given me during my sojourn. Best wishes to you and your staff."

Lowe is a partner in a Soho club and prospering.

Talking to newsmen about his past, he said he once talked himself into a job as a footman for Queen Mary, hoping to rob her, but abandoned the project.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Donna Axum of El Dorado, Miss America, will be guest soloist at the season-ending performance of the South Arkansas Symphony at El Dorado next May, symphony president, Mrs. Thomas L. Reynolds reported.

N. Y. Advertisers Summer Festival But She Is Even More of a Fall Festival

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—No one is quite sober in Manhattan in October.

Everyone drinks the wine of new possibility.

Anything can happen; everything does.

New York City advertises herself as a summer festival, but she is even more of a fall fiesta.

Her fugitive children troop back from their summer hideaways, mosquito-scarred and full of tales of country adventure. But they really don't start living again until they cross the Bronx line, or enter the Lincoln tunnel and leave New Jersey behind. Any time spent anywhere but here doesn't count—it's a period in a cocoon.

Now in October the cocoon time is over, and Manhattan again becomes a siren city, the American enchanted.

The word is "big." Everybody has big plans, big dreams, big hopes—the big angle. Every bus, every train, every plane unloads hard-eyed or starry-eyed schemers who come here to seek the big chance, to beat the big city down to their size.

The hammering sound of new buildings going up and old buildings coming down echoes all day. Crews of workmen seem to be ripping up every pavement as they lay new utility lines or repair deep potholes.

Out in Flushing Meadows Bch. Moses and his merry elves are clothing the skeleton of the giant world's fair in a mad race against time to get the biggest show in history ready by next April.

Flying footballs replace the thump of baseballs in gloves on city playgrounds. The pigeons outside the Central Park Zoo get fewer handouts, and the polar bears gambol gaily in their chilling pool. Old ladies wait for sunny afternoons to lean pumpkins and stare down with timeless curiosity on the antics of mankind.

A fresh glitter comes to tawdry Broadway. Old shows close. New shows open—and some close. But in Tin Pan Alley the pianos go on tinkling forever.

On Fifth Avenue, the fabulous store windows drip with furs and jewels. Along the Bowery, burlesque and wonder where they'll get an overcoat. In expensive restaurants the gin and tonic gives way to the vodka martini.

Life itself is just one big cocktail party in the big town now. Everyone from Park Avenue cinderellas to Greenwich Village beatniks shares a feeling of exultant intoxication, for no one is quite sober in Manhattan in October. Who'd want to be?

Reaction to the Sen. Testimony of Mr. Valachi

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a tourist guide, Joseph Valachi has led the nation on a dark tour of the underworld for an insider's peek at its secrets and murders. But can he be believed?

Yes, says Sen. John L. McClellan, who is chairman of the investigating subcommittee hearing Valachi's rasping tale of vengeance. "He's a dirty liar," says John C. Montana, a delegate to the notorious gangland convention at Apalachin, N.Y.

Besides its shock value, has Valachi's testimony turned up anything new? Is it helping the fight against organized crime? "I think there are more important things to claim the attention of Congress," says Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., who has criticized the subcommittee before.

A Justice Department spokesman doesn't feel that way. Much of the 60-year-old mobster's testimony "could be used in court if strongly corroborated," he said.

"There is very little new to us," said a New York police official, who added: "His testimony serves to make some things clear. But this does not mean that it is of such a nature that we can go to court and prosecute a case."

These are some of the wide ranging views on the merits of the testimony of the dope peddler and convicted killer who has grabbed headlines and drawn housewives to their television sets from the ironing.

In three days of testimony, Valachi has made his name a household word across the land with his widely publicized testimony that "this is my doom" for informing on the inner workings of a secret criminal society he calls La Cosa Nostra—"our thing" or "our family" in Italian.

Outsiders know it as the Mafia, the syndicate, or the Black Hand. Never before in their investigations of organized crime has any congressional group presented a witness who claimed to speak as an insider of such an organization.

A reporter checked separately with the two Democrats and two Republicans on the subcommittee who have been most active in the hearing. All said they believed Valachi, and that at least for the most part he knew the facts.

The four are McClellan and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Carl T. Curtis, R-N.H.

"My reaction is, Valachi is not a phony," said Curtis.

McClellan said he regarded Valachi's testimony as essentially "not especially new," but nevertheless important.

Said McIntyre, "I have to give him credence. If I were a judge, I'd be waiting for testimony from the other side, but this testimony has probative value."

Mundt said he started out "with deep skepticism concerning Valachi, but more and more I am convinced of the authenticity of his story, because of its verification by the police of New York and Connecticut."

JFK Blamed for Civil Rights Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon charged today that the nation's "civil rights crisis is to a great extent" President Kennedy's fault.

Nixon said it is "due to the fact that having made some symbolic gestures in the campaign and some extravagant promises about what he was going to do, he did nothing but give his civil rights program lip service."

"As a result," Nixon said in an exclusive copyright interview in the current issue of U. S. News and World Report, "a tremendous emotional development occurred which resulted in the demonstrations."

Nixon's comments were in response to the question: "On civil rights, would you have used troops in Alabama and Mississippi if you had been president?"

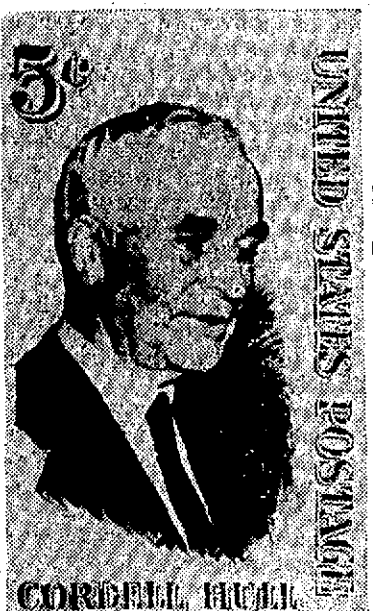

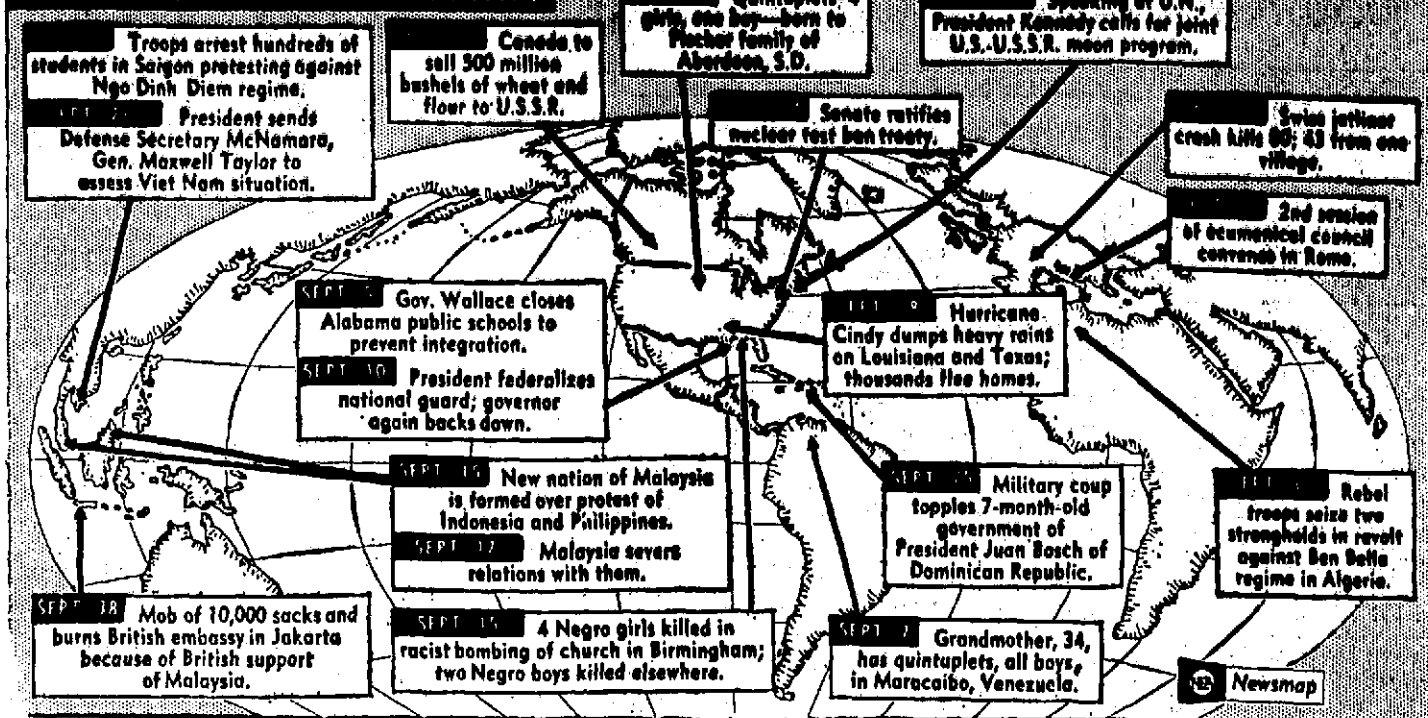

The former vice president, Kennedy's opponent in the 1960 presidential election, added:

"I think that anybody sitting in the White House, with the lines of communication that he has, knew that this crisis was going to come up. And what could have avoided it would have been for the President of the United States, with his immense prestige, to call in the governors of the critical states, sit them down and tell them, without any equivocation, what was going to happen in the event that they did not comply with the law of the land."

"Now, I'm confident that, had that been done, the situation would not have developed to the point that it did. But once it had developed to that point, then the President of the United States had no choice but to enforce the law of the land and to use whatever means was necessary."

Rejecting once again any notion that he will seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, Nixon ranted far and wide in his discussion of politics.

Diem Thinks Communists Are Losing

By PETER ARNETT

Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem said today the Communists are losing the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam.

In an address opening the National Assembly, Diem said the Communist Viet Cong faces the "eventuality of an inescapable defeat."

He also told his hand-picked assembly, in which there are no opposition parties, that South Viet Nam's Buddhist "problem" had been settled. His regime's recent crackdown on the Buddhists is to be debated in the U.N. General Assembly, beginning this afternoon.

Speaking while police enforced maximum security regulations in downtown Saigon, Diem said:

"At this very moment, it is with regret that we see some countries, intoxicated by false information on the situation in Viet Nam and on the Buddhist question in particular, request and obtain inclusion in the United Nations agenda of a problem already settled."

In New York, 16 Asian, African and Latin American nations planned to introduce a resolution calling on U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to intercede in behalf of the Buddhists.

Diem has sent a special six-man mission to the U.N. to defend his government.

South Viet Nam is expected to counter the criticism in the assembly with an invitation to an international inspection team to see the situation first hand.

Diem again said the Buddhist crisis was Communist inspired as "an ultimate maneuver" to avert inevitable defeat.

He said the declaration of martial law after the wave of Buddhist demonstrations and suicides "permitted the unmasking of the Communists and their accomplices, and now a tempered, free Viet Nam emerges from this undeniably great trial through having victoriously surmounted this new assault of Communist conspiracy."

He also praised his armed forces for several "major victories" in the Mekong Delta, where Communist resistance has been strongest.

Diem's speech was broadcast throughout Saigon over street loudspeakers.

Absent at the first session of the National Assembly was Diem's fiery sister-in-law and official hostess, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, who begins a three-week tour of the United States today to defend the Diem regime.

Mrs. Nhu and her husband, the head of the secret police, were elected to the assembly in the recent election. Both were unopposed.

Although Mrs. Nhu's American tour was officially billed as a personal visit, the government hoped she might sway U.S. public opinion following the recent unfavorable publicity over a crackdown on the Buddhists.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge delivered a sharp protest to the Diem government against the beating of three American news correspondents by secret police Saturday. The newsmen were at the scene of the sixth protest suicide by a Buddhist. The melee began when plain clothesmen tried to seize a movie camera.

UA Workers to Continue Picketing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

University of Arkansas employees striking for higher wages and more job security will continue picketing until a settlement is reached, a union official said Saturday.

John Hale of Little Rock, international representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO), said that contrary to reports, the picket line is very effective.

Hale said strikers were getting much support from Arkansas residents.

Hale said the striking workers are not being paid the salaries appropriated by the legislature

Saturday.

Hale said the University does sign contracts with individuals such as football coach Frank Broyles. Hale said also that while workers were not being paid their appropriated salaries, Mullins was receiving within one dollar of the full amount appropriated for his post.

Hale said a minimum of 175 employees are striking and that picket lines were being honored by such other unions as Teamsters, who make deliveries on the campus, and construction workers for campus projects.

The striking employees do not plan to interfere with academic life and are allowing essential services to be carried on, Hale said.

The striking Local 965, comprised of non-teaching hourly wage workers, was organized at the school a year ago.

and employees feel the University does not have the right to supersede the legislature.

Some of the striking employees are receiving more than $2,000 less than the amount appropriated for the jobs by the legislature, Hale said.

The workers are also asking for contracts with the university, but university President David W. Mullins said earlier that the courts had ruled that state institutions could not enter contracts with labor unions.

Hale quoted union attorneys as saying there is no Arkansas law prohibiting the school from signing a contract or working agreement.

He said the University does sign contracts with individuals such as football coach Frank Broyles. Hale said also that while workers were not being paid their appropriated salaries, Mullins was receiving within one dollar of the full amount appropriated for his post.

Dr. Kildare Hit With Suit for Malpractice

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Poor Dr. Kildare, out of his intern's whites only for a little over a week, 201 hit by a $55,000 judgment Thursday night in, of all things, a malpractice suit.

Sincere and dedicated Dr. Jim, now a resident physician, really wasn't guilty of anything but stopping his car on a lonely road to help a lady in distress. He delivered her child—which died—by the roadside without any aids except a first aid kit.

Result was the lawsuit—and a courtroom drama that was a real change from the usual Thursday night NBC medical menu. Mixed into the program was a strong editorial in favor of something called a "Good Samaritan Law" in all states.

One of the questions about Perry Como's once-in-a-while NBC variety hours this season was how he was going to get along without his old writers, Goodman Ace and company, now working for comedian Sid Caesar.

It was answered Thursday night. Perry doesn't talk much, but sings and laughs a lot. And he hires an extra large number of big name guest stars. There were June Allyson, George Burns, Cyd Charisse, and Allen Sherman of "My Son the Folk Singer."

They turned out a lively hour. Channel markers: Judy Garland's guests Sunday night will be George Maharis and Jack "Arle." One hopes that the show's regular, Jerry Van Dyke, manages to fit the format a little more comfortably... the new, fashionable word of television news reporters and commentators is "thrust"—as in "the thrust of their questions," "the thrust of the effort,"—but all it means is "direction."

In other years, denigrate and dichotomy came—and went. CBS rates a thank-you for scuttling its daytime schedules this week to televise the Valachi hearings—it cost some $250,000 a day in billings to sponsors.

Baseball's World Series, of course, will be the stellar television attraction over the weekend, but there is some interesting evening diversion coming up, too. Tonight, there's the first drama in NBC's Bob Hope anthology series, Red Sterling's "A Killing at Sundial" (8:30-9:30 EDT).

Lack of Rain May Set a State Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau says Arkansas could have a record low amount of rainfall this year.

To date Little Rock has had only 21.17 inches of rain, which is 17.02 inches below normal.

The all-time record low amount of rainfall for a given year was 31.57 inches in 1924. The Little Rock figure is the official one for the state.

The bureau said from Oct. 6 through Sept. 30 this year, the state had 28.06 inches less than normal rainfall, compared to 25.06 for the same period in 1924.

The northeast portion of the state has apparently received the most rainfall thus far this year, the bureau said, with the central and northwest sections being the driest.

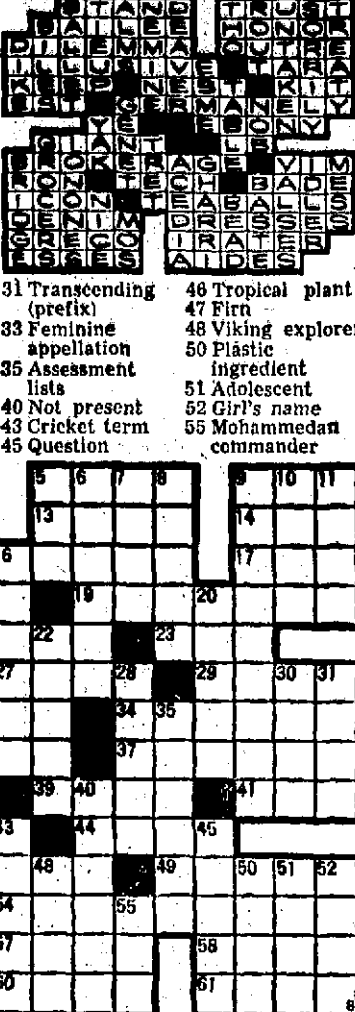

The lack of precipitation has left the state's forests in critical danger of fire and State Forester Fred Lang has issued calls for help in forming fire fighting groups to prevent spread of brush fires to woods.

Oklahoma and Texas Rated Nation's Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oklahoma's Sooners, their football fortunes on the rebound, will find out just how far they've come on the road back from mediocrity in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.
There the mighty Sooners, who dominated college football a decade ago but among the also-rans in recent years, place their best-in-the-nation ranking on the line against old foe Texas.
A victory would put the Sooners in good shape for a shot at the national title. The rest of the schedule is against Big Eight opposition, against whom Oklahoma has a 96-3 record under Coach Bud Wilkinson.
Texas, however, may have something to say about that. The Longhorns, unbeaten in three games and gunning for the national title they forfeited when something to say about that. The Longhorns, unbeaten in three games and gunning for the national title they forfeited when tied by Rice last season, have taken over the No. 2 spot in the latest Associated Press poll and have a recent history of success against their favorite foe. The Longhorns have won the last five games in the old series.
Oklahoma was idle last week, after scoring victories over Clemson and defending national champion Southern California, but held on to the top spot in the poll without trouble, polling 40 first place votes in a total of 54 ballots cast by the AP's special selection board.
Texas, third a week ago, vaulted over Alabama and into the runner-up spot on the strength of a 34-7 romp over Oklahoma State. Alabama also won its third straight, holding Vanderbilt 21-6.
There were a number of other changes in the select list, with only No. 10 Mississippi staying in the same spot, Northwestern and Georgia Tech, fifth and seventh a week ago, dropped from the list and were replaced by Ohio State and Penn State.
The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, and total points on the 10-7-8 etc basis:

1. Oklahoma (40)	508
2. Texas (35)	435
3. Alabama (4)	430

Dodgers Will Trade If Necessary

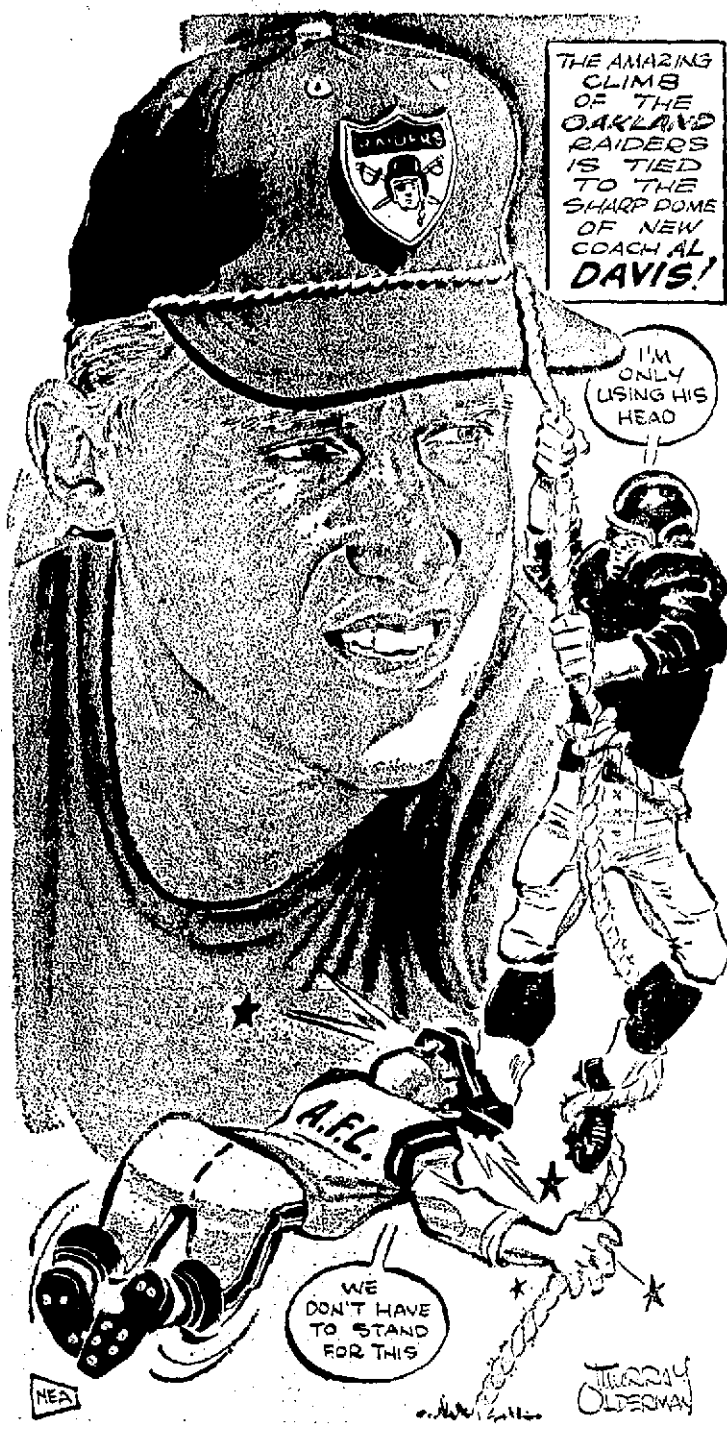

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Having just won the National League pennant by six games and the World Series by four, the Los Angeles Dodgers don't figure to rival the New York Stock Exchange in trading volume this winter.
"But we're not going to stand pat, either," says General Manager Buzzie Bavasi.
Curiously, the first thing Bavasi wants to import is more pitching. The Dodger pitching staff had an earned-run average of 2.85, the best in the major leagues this year and the best in the National League in 19 years.
Bavasi said he'd like another right-handed starting pitcher and another left-handed relief pitcher.
There's a good chance the Dodger roster will change this month. The first eight teams in the National League are putting four players each in a pool set up to help the indigent New York Mets and Houston Colts. The Dodgers are expected to offer infielder Marv Breeding, outfielder Lee Walls, relief pitcher Ken Rowe and first baseman Bill Haas. Haas was in the Dodgers' farm system all season but counted against their 25-man roster under the new first-year player rule.
The Dodgers could give up all four of the "pool players" or none depending on how many they want to part with and how many the Mets and Colts want to buy.
There had been speculation relief pitcher Larry Sherry would be placed in the pool. But the guess now is that the Dodgers think they could make a better deal in a trade.
Bill Skowron also looked like a trade prospect before the World Series. But he hit .385 in the Series and Bavasi said he was impressed.
Utility infielder Dick Tracewski also strengthened his position in the World Series, playing all four games at second base. The only reservation about Tracewski is that he has been unable to hit good right-handed pitching. The Dodgers may try to trade for a left-handed hitting second baseman who could alternate with Tracewski.
Bavasi said the Dodgers should be a contender in the National League "for as far ahead as we can see."
"But I don't think there's much chance any club is going to set up a dynasty in this league," he said. "We don't even know we're going to win next year."

National Dominates All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven National Leaguers, including World Series star Sandy Koufax, and three American League players were named today to the Associated Press Major League All-Star baseball team for 1963.
Koufax, who posted a 25-5 season record and collected two victories in the Dodgers' sweep of the New York Yankees, was the only member of the world champions selected unanimously in a vote of 71 baseball writers.
Koufax topped the balloting with 68 votes. The other National Leaguers selected were first baseman Bill White, shortstop Dick Groat and third baseman Ken Boyer, all of the St. Louis Cardinals; outfielders Willie Mays of San Francisco and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, and right-handed pitcher Juan Marchal of San Francisco.
Outfielder Al Kousser of Detroit and second baseman Bobby Richardson and catcher Elston Howard of the Yankees represented the American League on the No. 1 team.

Fulmer Is Undecided on Retiring

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Gene Fulmer is fighting the toughest battle of his life and it's got him hearing things.
A little voice keeps telling him to "try one more fight" and a much bigger voice—Mrs. Fulmer—wants him to call it a career.
While he tries to make up his mind, the former middleweight champion, now 32, bides his time working on the mink farm and quarter-horse ranch he owns in West Jordan, Utah, and training his brother, Don, for a future shot at the title he once held.
Don, 24, gets a chance to take a step up Wednesday night when he meets Jose Torres in a 10-rounder at the Teaneck Armory. Gene will be in his corner.
"I've been trying to talk myself into retiring ever since the last fight against Dick Tiger in August," Gene said, "but that little voice keeps telling me to try it once more."
"I'm still undecided. In a way, I'd like to try it again but my wife and family are against it. I haven't set a definite date when I'll make up my mind but it won't be too long."
"I haven't been in a ring or had a pair of gloves on since the last Tiger fight. I've been keeping busy on my two ranches, which are coming along fine."
The oldest of the fighting Fulmer brothers — Jay, a promising lightweight, retired several years ago because of an eye injury — Gene has found it increasingly tougher to get into shape.
Also preying on his mind is the fact that a fighter usually is the last one to know when he's through.
"Everybody likes to admit they've had it," he said. "I know I do."

Given Good Chance for Title Again

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—A 37-year-old Hawaiian attorney, Merrill L. Carlsmith (11-10), got off to a good start Monday in his plan to repeat as USGA Seniors Amateur golf champion.
Carlsmith defeated his first opponent in the 1963 tournament, Joseph S. Gillin of Tulsa, Okla., 6 and 4.
The tournament at the 6,531-yard Sea Island course is limited to golfers 55 and over.
Carlsmith drew for his second round opponent today Q. W. Norvell Jr. of Chattanooga, Tenn., who routed G. F. Serafini of Brooklyn 7 and 6.

Reds, Blues Battle to a Draw

The Reds and Blues, currently the Grade School Football League's toughest teams, battled to a scoreless tie at K-Park Saturday afternoon.
The Blue team, on the strength of seven returning starters from 1962, dominated play statistically, but the Reds, with some good boys themselves, dug in when the going got tough.
The Blues got the big midfield yardage but couldn't go inside the line. The Red team conceded ground, defending against the "home run" play, but were real "bad" with their backs too close to the goal line.
The Whites, bouncing back from last week's two touchdown loss to the Blues, had to earn every inch to finally outlast the Gold team. After a scoreless first half, the Whites scored twice in the second half on the basis of one sustained drive and a last minute pass interception deep in Gold territory. The Golds, a brand new team this year, and playing without any previous experience, are improving each game and are determined to be contented with before the season is over.
Much credit is due the members of the Bobcat Football Squad for their energy and enthusiasm in coaching these younger players.
Blue coaches are George Wright, Jr., Ricky Butler and Mac McLarty. Red coaches are Mutt Wasell, John Hughes and Vince Masenelli. Gold coaches are Dan Jones, Jerry Burnett, Jack Caldwell, Johnny Samuels and Jimmy Johnson, and White coaches are Larry Thrash, oe Purvis and Paul Guerri.
Next Saturday's games will be:
1:30 Whites vs Reds
2:30 Gold vs Blue

Color on the Taylor Show Is Stunning

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It would have been great if every viewer who watched "Elizabeth Taylor in London" Sunday night had been able to take the hour-long trip through the old city with the aid of a color television set. The show was stunning in its beauty.
Miss Taylor—whose qualification for CBS tour guide was that she was born in Hampstead and lived there until she was 7—was almost unbelievably beautiful, too.
The bouquets, however, must go to the creators of the imaginative program, particularly to the men behind the cameras and the writers, one of whom was the eminent S. J. Perelman.
There were glimpses of London Bridge, Westminster, the Tower and the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace but it was the off-beat material that fascinated me. We saw and heard Billingsgate fish sellers exchanging insults, a street sweeper complaining about dirt, a cabbie mourning the obsolete traffic regulations.
We visited the Thames dock from which the Pilgrims actually started out for America and the shop still doing business which sold the tea for the 1776 Boston tea party.
Through it all, aloof, lovely and every inch an actress, floated Miss Taylor, usually overlooking the Thames and usually with a book in her hand. Her commentary was warm and even learned and it was leavened by occasional touches of humor.
It was an affectionate, imaginative show and the color photography was as handsome as anything ever seen on television. Elizabeth Taylor's London is a lovely place.
Earlier in the evening CBS in a sudden switch broadcast the "Judy Garland Show" that was shot a few days ago instead of the program originally scheduled.
Whatever the reason for the change, it was a real swinging hour. Judy was much less nervous than during the first show and also had a chance to do a lot of singing.
Barbara Streisand proved a stimulating guest star and was given a chance to belt a few songs in her own style as well as sing along with Judy. There was a surprise appearance by the dean of the belters, Ethel Merman, and the funny Smothers Brothers helped too.
Bob Hope's new NBC anthology series started Friday night with a disappointing drama called "A Killing at Sundial." It was written by Rod Selving and one expected better things from him.
Regularly scheduled programs are on all three networks tonight. ABC's "Wagon Train" (8:30-10 EDT) has singer-dancer Carol Lawrence playing a Chinese princess, a piece of off-beat casting, and NBC's "Hollywood and the Stars" (9:30-10) starts a two-part study of the changing shape and face of its sirens and glamor girls over the years.

Arkansas and Baylor Top Conference Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At the risk of being banned by the coaching fraternity, Darrell Royal of Texas regrettably at least—to latch onto the loss of his star punter as a means of forecasting doom in the game with No. 1 Oklahoma Saturday.
Instead, Royal said the teams were well-matched, indicating he figured the Longhorns had an even chance against the Sooners, whom they have beaten five straight years.
While Royal will lose his great kicker, Ernie Koy, who is out in definitely from a shoulder injury that required an operation, he does have two players back from the injury list—end Sandy Sanders and tackle Ken Ferguson.
In fact, the injury situation was improving throughout the Southwest Conference.
Both Texas Christian and Texas Tech, who clash at Lubbock in a conference game, were injury free.
Baylor had a couple of starters—Hank Lawrence Elkins and defensive tackle Johnny Jessup—on the doubtful list but had letterman end Ken Hodge back for full action.
Arkansas, which opposes Baylor in the top conference go of the week at Waco Saturday night, counted wingback George Rea Walker out.
But Coach Frank Broyles wasn't singing the blues either. He said the 13-3 victory over Texas Christian last week gave the Razorbacks the confidence it needed.
Southern Methodist which plays Navy at Dallas Friday night, planned a tough scrimmage today but its three injured players—John Hughes, Jim Sifton and Max Derden—won't be in it. Coach Hayden Fry is holding them out so they will be in shape for the game.
Texas A&M, which plays University of Houston at College Station, welcomed halfback George Hargett from off the injury list. Hargett missed the 10-0 loss to Texas Tech last week.
Rice will be without its giant tackle, John Mims, for the game with Stanford Saturday night in Houston. He is out with a knee injury. Coach Jess Neely also had his feelings hurt over losing to Penn State last week but that can be repaired easily enough—victory over Stanford.

Lindsey Top Rusher in Conference

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor has maintained a balance between rushing and passing and it keeps the Golden Bears ahead on offense in Southwest Conference football.
They test their offense against Arkansas' so far so good defense Saturday in Waco.
Baylor has averaged 377 yards per game, 182 rushing and 195 passing. Texas is second with its powerful ground attack — 272.3 yards per outing — and only 98 in the air.
Defensively, it's Texas without a contest. The Longhorns have limited three foes to 159.3 yards per game, being particularly effective against passing where they have allowed only 54.3 yards and intercepted every seventh pass. Texas has had its goal line crossed only twice.
Arkansas is second in defense, giving up 212.3 yards per game.
Individually, Don Trull, Baylor quarterback, dominates the offense. He leads in passing with 30 completions for 290 yards and total offense with 422 yards on 64 plays.
Jim Lindsey of Arkansas tops the rushers with 172 yards on 40 runs but he is only one yard ahead of Tommy Ford of Texas.

Palmer Winnings Now $127,555

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's victory in the Whitmarsh Open last weekend boosted his earnings in official PGA golf tournaments to a whopping $127,555.
PGA headquarters reported Monday that Palmer won seven of the 19 tournaments in which he competed, and was in the first five finishers 10 times.
Jack Nicklaus continues in the runner-up spot with $85,990 in winning out of 23 tournaments, four of which he won.

BLAST OFF—Avelino Gomez takes to the air like a guided missile as he dismounts from Mrs. Marion B. Franklin's Bupers after winning the $75,000 added Futurity at Aqueduct in New York.

Broyles Says Win Meant Confidence

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Razorback Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that the Forker victory over Texas Christian last weekend had built the team's confidence.
The Razorbacks met twice, Monday—a meeting early in the afternoon, and a light workout in shorts later in the day where they received their weekly scouting report a day early.
Broyles said this was necessary in order to get the team ready for Saturday's game against the Baylor pro-type offense.
Broyles said the only serious injury during the TCU game was to wingback George Rae Walker who strained his right knee and will not be able to play against Baylor.
Jackie Brassuel, groomed to fill in for Walker because of Walker's trouble with his left knee, will move to starting wingback, Broyles said.
Razorback trainer Bill Farrell said Tommy Brasher, out since the Oklahoma State game with an injured knee, would not play against Baylor, may not play against Texas and may be out for the rest of the season.

Gretel Is Being Altered Some

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Gretel, Australia's challenger for the last America's Cup yacht race, is being altered to make her a better, faster boat, her designer, Alan Payne, said today.
The main change, the Sydney naval architect said, was to move the 90-foot aluminum mast 10 inches toward the bow. This in turn, enabled three feet to be cut off the stern, saving 100 pounds of useless weight, Payne said.
This is the second movement of the mast — it was moved 19 inches forward on the eve of the Cup races in which Weatherly beat Gretel 4-1 last year off Newport, R.I.

Position of Yanks Remain the Same

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Despite their defeat in the World Series in an unprecedented four-game sweep by the Los Angeles Dodgers, the image of the New York Yankees as lords of major league baseball has not been materially damaged.
While giving full credit to the Dodgers and the great pitching of Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale, comment in various newspapers generally could be summed up:
The defeat of the Yankees was just one of those things.
Wait Alston, manager of the victorious Dodgers, put it this way: "When you're winning, everything goes right. We didn't gamble any more this year than last. But we were luckier."
Jim Ogle of the Newark, N.J. Star-Ledger, commented: "The decline and fall (of the Yankees) will last until next April 14 and then they'll start to prove this was all a mistake...not counting the pitchers, O'Malley (Dodger owner) would be very happy to trade man-for-man. This is not a Yankee team that's cracking up. This is a young club and the pitching is getting better."
"The Yankees have won so many World Series they need not begrudge this one to a former neighbor," the New York Times commented editorially.
The Cleveland Plain-Dealer, in an editorial, asserted the "Dodgers have done the baseball world a favor in beating the Yankees and taking over as world champions."
Paul Zimmerman, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, commented that "the aura of invincibility built up around the Yankees was...thoroughly shattered by the Dodgers."
An observation: In 1942 the Yankees beat the Cardinals in the first game of the World Series, then lost four straight. The Yanks and Cards met again in 1943, but this time the Yankees won in five games.

Warm Days, Cool Nights Is Pattern

A persistent weather pattern that has clung to Arkansas for the past two weeks continued today, resulting in warm days, cool nights and no rain.
High pressure ridges continue to dominate the weather and little change is foreseen in the next five days.
The outlook is for temperatures two to six degrees above normal and little or no precipitation.
Highs in the state Sunday were above 90 degrees in most places. Overnight lows dipped generally into the mid 50s.
The forecast calls for fair with little change in temperatures through Tuesday. Highs today will be 86 to 96 and lows tonight 46 to 60.
The Weather Bureau said the only weather-induced delays to the harvest for the next few days will be caused by moderate early morning dew, which will dry off rapidly under sunny skies.
Land preparation for fall seeding will continue to lag in most areas due to dry soil conditions, the bureau said.
